

Betatex S.p.A. is an Italian Company that produces disposable items for operating theatres and incontinence aids since 1976.

The constant endeavor in the research and the continuous investments in technology and quality, have enabled the society to become one of the most important italian producers in the medical device field. Even thanks to modern certified production process, Betatex is present in the biggest Italian and European hospitals.

The experience gained in these years together with a team of competent people, allows customized productions to meet the requests of every single customer.

